TIME to stop , or is that Time / Warner AOL , Why not have the Taliban prosecute the US for violating their rights during our recent conflict? Just because they can't compete , Microsoft's competitors have chosen to litigate in order to buy time to build their warchest. Time Warner AOL are engaged in a battle to utilize our courts for their own agenda. Enough is Enough. Settle and let the excellent people at Microsoft continue to create newer, more useful products. It is foolish to continue to punish one of the strongest US companies . We should be proud of the accomplishments of Microsoft. They have set the standard and have continued to up the mark. Don't give the competition free reign to steal their focus. Drop the issue, it has been settled by the consumers who continue to purchase and demand more from Microsoft
